Be ready at crunch time.

As a CFO, you're already experiencing both the joys and frustrations of managing your financial and business information, especially during crunch time.

Now, you too can have the right answers to questions within minutes every time:

"Are those reports ready for month end?"

"Yes! And as you can see in this Excel spreadsheet..."

"How much revenue did we make on the Infinity project? I want to know how much we made in each region, I want it month to date, I want it for last quarter.... And current year to date."

"No problem. Let me show you the summary report right now..."

"What were our costs per region? Who sold the most product last week/month/quarter?"

"Oh, you will like this. We'll just drill down into Navision on the cost summary to get the details you're looking for..."

Most CFOs like you want to be in control of your business and will want to be able to answer any questions right away.

Now, you can!
